As part of Dr. Alfonso Torres-Rua precision agriculture research, AggieAir took to the skies over Gallo Vineyards in Barelli, CA to map the vineyards into ARS computer models. The analytical data, collected over three years and combined with other researchers, will help vineyards efficiently determine vine health and irrigation practices in varying soil and climate conditions.

Read the USDA AgResearch Story