The AggieAir research team unveiled the new BluJay line of unmanned aerial vehicles (UAV) during the GRAPEX conference. The new UAV, nicknamed Darkhorse, is outfitted with additional scientific sensors and beyond line of sight capacity. Darkhorse is capable of flying over 200 miles and remain airborne for over 3 hours on a single battery charge.

Read more about the unveiling event from the USU College of Engineering’s press release.